Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Plane-Table and Its Use in Topographical Surveying: From the Papers of the United States, Coast Survey Description. - Topography is a more or less detailed representation, in the form of a map, of a certain area of ground, on a specified scale or proportion of nature, mechanically constructed by the measurement of angles, direct linear measurement, and tangential lines. In plane-table practice these are drawn in pencil upon the paper, which is spread upon the table, and the details are filled in according to established conventional signs. The work is so conducted that the required figure is obtained in the field at once by the simultaneous measurement and plotting of the angles; and while it is done with as much accuracy as it could be plotted with a protractor, errors of transfer are avoided and much time saved. The plane-table at present in use by the Coast Survey (see Plate No. 1) is composed of a well-seasoned drawing board, with bevelled or rounded edges about thirty inches in length, twenty-four in width, and three-quarters of an inch thick. It is commonly made of several pieces of white pine, tongued and grooved together, with the grain running in different directions to prevent warping. It is supported upon three strong brass arms, to which it is fastened by screws passing through them and entering the under side of the board, the three holes for the reception of the screws being guarded by brass bushings let into the wood, and situated equidistant from each other and from the centre of the table. By means of these screws the board can be removed at will. The arms rest...
