

Garment Workers in New York City's Chinatown After 1965

By Stephanie Machate

Grin Verlag. Paperback. Condition: New. 20 pages. Dimensions: 10.0in. x 7.0in. x 0.1in. Seminar paper from the year 2005 in the subject American Studies - Culture and Applied Geography, grade: 2, 0, Dresden Technical University, 3 1 online entries in the bibliography, language: English, abstract: In this research paper the focus shall be on Chinese workers in the garment factories of New York City's Chinatown as an example of immigrant workers in the United States. After the Immigration Act of 1965, which abolished the national origin system and gave priority to the reunification of families, chain immigration in the United States of America started in large numbers. The most visible beneficiaries were the Asians because the quota system was abandoned for them. A lot of Chinese immigrants, especially women, entered the United States with this chain immigration. The high number of women amongst the immigrants was a reason that the former bachelors society - which means that the Chinese male population outnumbered Chinese women in New York City on a large scale - turned into an almost well-balanced one. The labor force of the newly arrived women enabled the growth of New York City's garment industry. According to some...
