Gluten is a protein that can be found on grain and wheat. It has been currently recognized to have ill effects on the human body. Studies have found that it can have a negative effect to a number of places in our bodies. It can cause degeneration of the intestinal wall, which leads to nutrient deficiencies, various digestive issues, anemia, fatigue, failure to thrive as well as an increased risk of many serious diseases. Many cases of neurological illness may be caused and/or exacerbated by gluten consumption. This is called gluten-sensitive idiopathic neuropathy. Gluten is associated with autoimmune diseases. Autoimmune diseases are caused by the immune system attacking things that are found naturally in the body. These risks therefore, have sprung a strong demand for Gluten-free recipes. You can find a number of these recipes here in this book.
